

Feeding Chittenden May 2021 Newsletter

Anna, our Community Engagement Manager, went on the news a couple of weeks ago to give an update on our Food Access Center initiative (click the link below to see the video!). We're working hard to provide food for all kinds of diets, cultures, and lifestyle. With our new order ahead system (created in large part by Julia, our amazing access coordinator), we've begun delivering personalized grocery boxes straight to our neighbors' homes! But as with all of our programs, our transition to a Food Access Center is not possible without support from our community. Any amount donated is greatly appreciated, and will go directly towards making a wide variety of healthy groceries available to all of our neighbors throughout Chittenden County.

A Successful Day in the Dirt!

Our Day in the Dirt with Vermont Community Garden Network was a major success!

While Angela is best known around Feeding Chittenden as our volunteer and special events coordinator, she's also an excellent gardener and builder, and she put so much thought, care, and energy into these brand new raised beds. We're thrilled with how they turned out, and we can't wait to grow fresh flowers and veggies in them with our neighbors.

Thank you so much to all who came out to volunteer at the Day in the Dirt and all who donated to the project! Major shoutout to RK Miles and the Intervale Center for the donations of materials. We're so grateful to our amazing community for making this possible.

Welcome to the Team, Pemberton!

We're THRILLED to welcome a new team member this month! Pemberton will be our new Administrative Coordinator at Feeding Chittenden and we're so happy to have her :)

Congrats Grads!

Cheers to Feeding Chittenden's 34th Community Kitchen Academy class! Curtis, Jay, Greta, Jenna, and Dylan all graduated on Thursday, April 29th, and each graduate has big plans for their future.

Check in on our blog to read more about these talented students and where they're headed (and how you may be able to try some of their delicious food).

Thank You Burlington Subaru!

We're so thankful for local partners like Burlington Subaru. Their contributions through the #ShareTheLove event have allowed us to not only provide necessary food to families across Chittenden county during this difficult year, but also to actively innovate, so our services are accessible to more people than ever.

This work would not be possible without the support of our community, and the folks at Burlington Subaru make a huge difference!
